VdS- and DIN-certified: Retrofit doors and windows with this security hinge lock.

Your flat and house doors as well as windows and French doors are popular entry points for criminals. Police and insurance companies therefore recommend retrofitting a security hinge lock with VdS and DIN certification. This fuse meets the criteria of the experts. With a pressure resistance of one tonne, it reliably protects against prying. Special pivoted bolts automatically lock into engagement and only turn when the door is opened. The security device can also be used with window and French doors with side-hung casement without tilt function. A drill template facilitates the assembly.
